I think in view of Courts etc may be asked to allow him to overdraw upto a limit of £50 anytime he wants, the usual quarterly payments being also made. He has now been in England for nearly a year and the total period for which the scholarship has been sanctioned is three years.

To

M.Visweswariah, Esq., C.I.E.,

Dewan of Mysore, Bangalore.

Sir,

Now that the whole of Europe is involved in war and England also has declared war on Germany, I do not know into what difficulties I may be put if the war continues for any lenth of time. I am already feeling a pressure on my slender purse. I beg leave to request the Government to have a deposit of £50/- in the bank in my name, so that I can make use of it in emergent cases. Let us only hope that there arises no such neces--sity and myself put to no great trouble ~~as~~ on account of these political disturbances, but there is no knowing what may happen and living in a foreign land it is best to be prepared for all emergencies.

If at all I happen to make use of any portion of the said £50/- I shall send in a report about it as soon as I withdraw any small fraction of the said deposit. This is purely a precautionary step, and as I mentioned before, I hope there may be no chance of my making use of any portion of the said amount.

Since it will take a long time to send the instructions by letter I shall feel obliged to you and immensely relieved of my anxieties if you will kindly make arrangements to cable the instructions to the bankers, Messrs Coutts & Co.

2 (37)

I beg to add that this arrangement may be made exclusive of any er arrangement with regard to my scholarship amount.

I remain, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

S. C. Sasbry
